Dedication

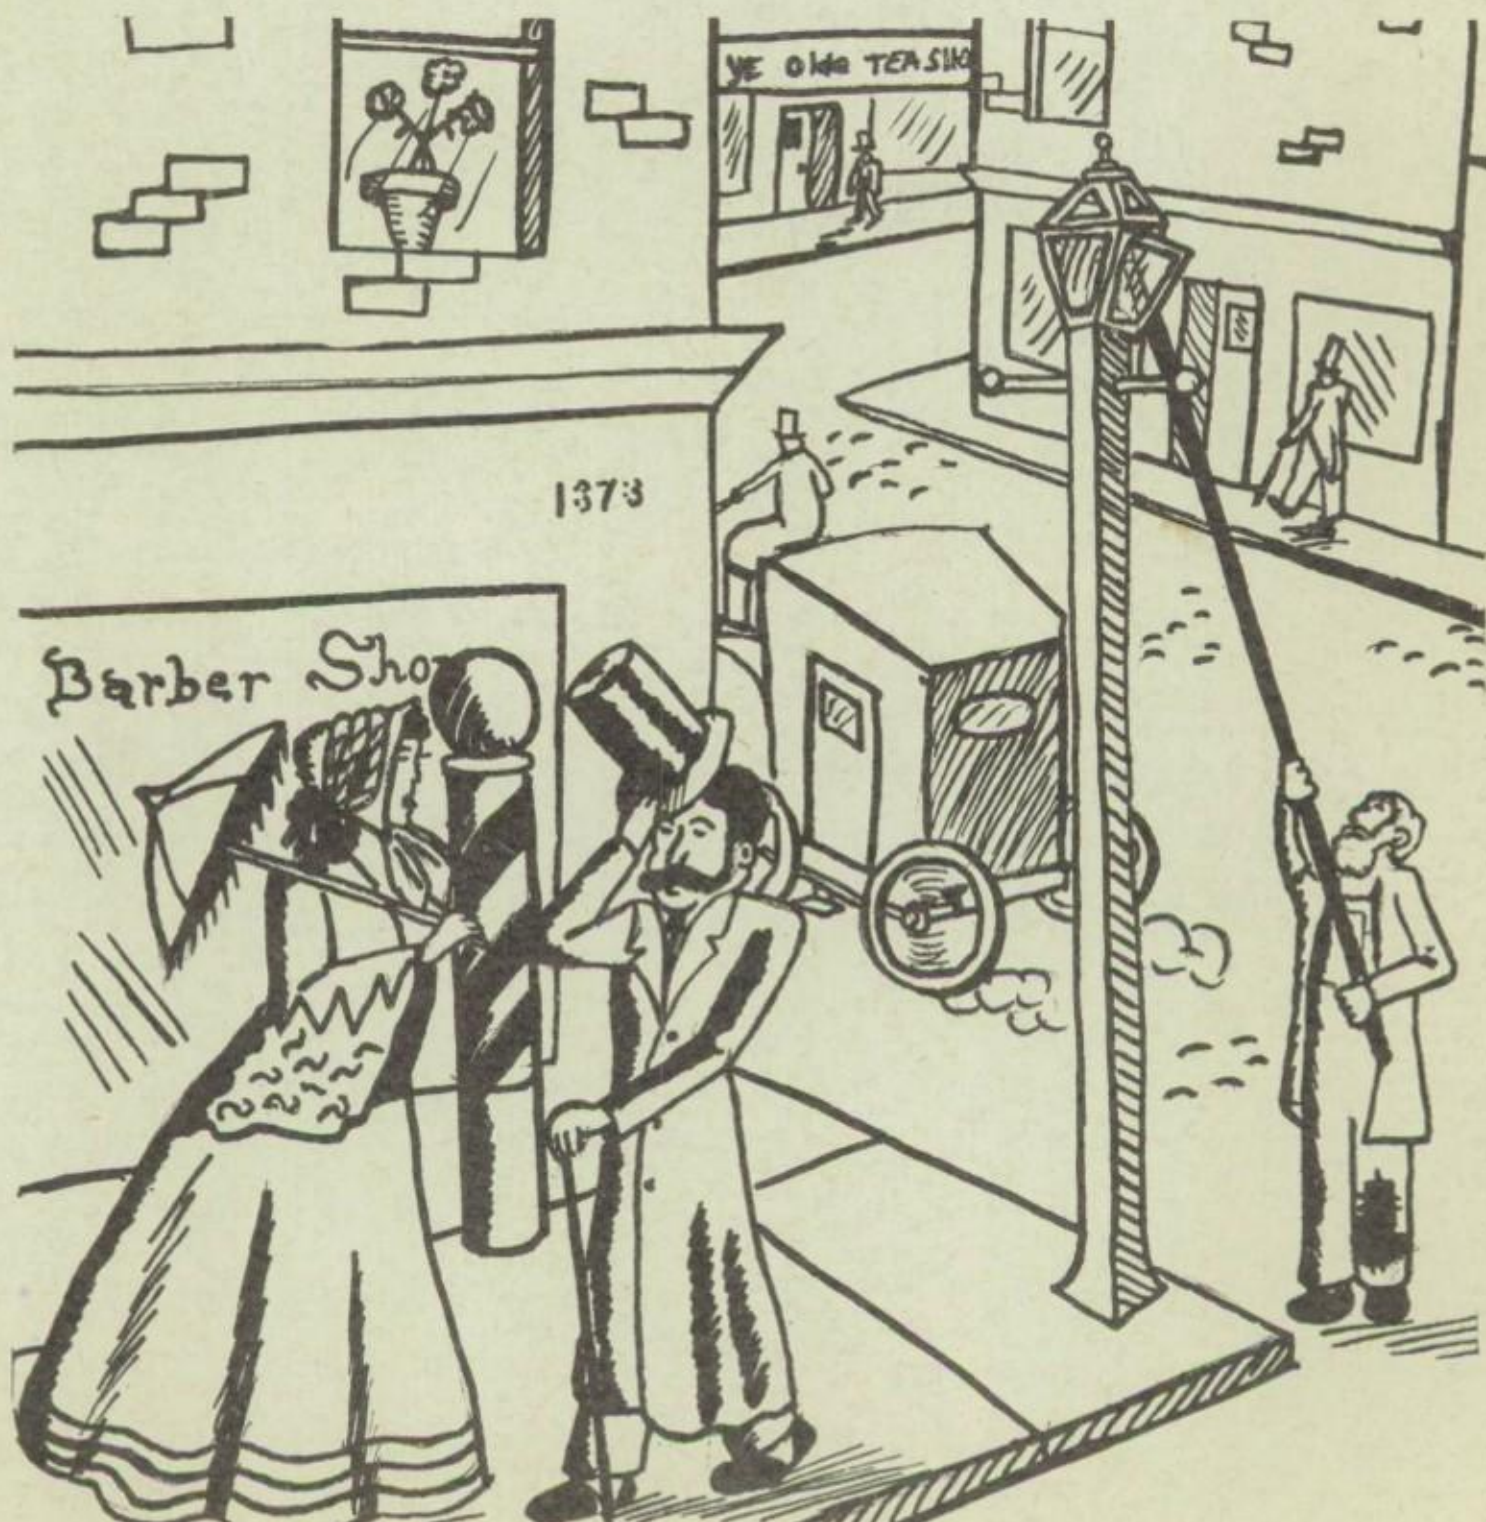

1948

On the Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Crestline High School we, the Class of 1948, dedicate this year's Panorama to the past three-quarters of a century of successful education in this fine school.

Since its founding in 1873, our school has sent many young graduates out on their own to become good citizens of this nation.

We are proud to be part of this school.

May the coming years be as successful as the past.

Editorial 75th Anniversary

In the recognition of the 75th anniversary of our school, it is the desire of this annual to give a little history of the first school in Crestline compared with our present high school.

The Crestline Union School, built in the 1800's, was situated in the same block as our present building. One of the best designed and equipped schools of that time, it had eleven rooms with a capacity for five hundred students.

When the school opened on April 3, 1869, the following nine teachers were hired: Superintendent and Rev. D. J. Foust, William Robinson, Lydia Ogden, Blanche Eaton, Wallace Stahle, S.R. Wachs, Miss K. Stahle, M.E. Ogden, and Maggie White. Their average salary was $750 a year.

The school, which ran on a three term basis of eleven weeks, had a first graduating class in 1871. Its five members were: Cynthia Gee Wilson, Josephine Snodgrass, Emma McKean, Anna Snodgrass, and Eugene McKean.

In contrast, Crestline High School has today a fine modern school with good teachers, equipment, and courses which prepare a student for a vocation in life.

Built in 1930, the building has three stories and thirty-five rooms, which now hold 400 students with a yearly graduating class of fifty students. Teacher salaries average $2500.

With the addition of new courses and activities, Crestline High School of 1948 has become more interesting to the student.

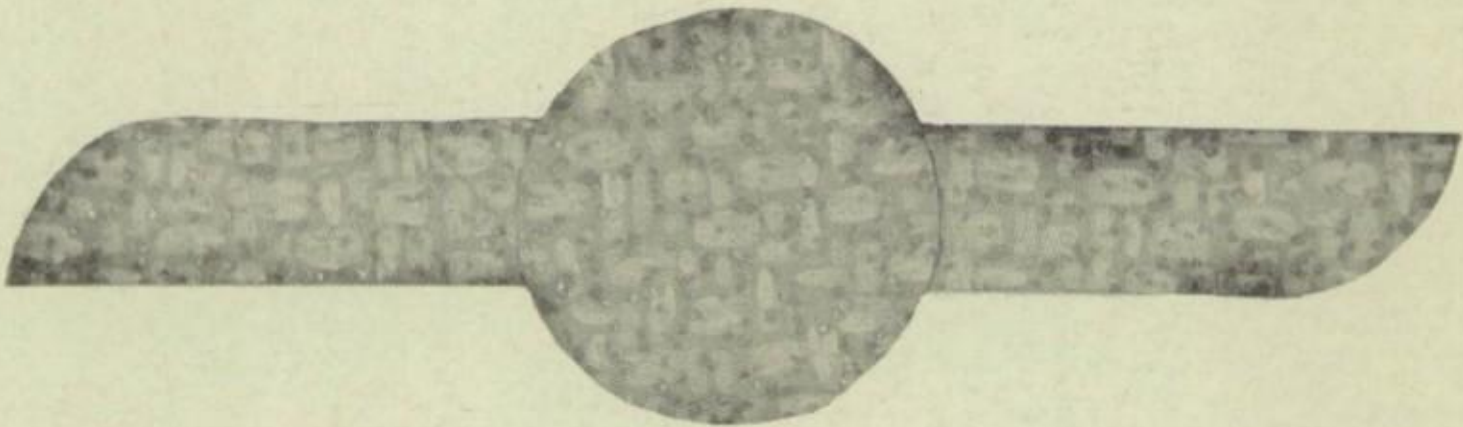

Among the most popular of these activities are the A Cappella Choir, Student Council, Speech, Hi-Y, Y-Teen, and G.A.A. Furthermore the interest which the school takes in looking after the education of the individual has provided better relationships between the two. In other words, it's up to you whether you want an education or not.

Our present school has developed a wider activity scope including athletics, concerts, and operas. These tend to give the student a broader personality, character, and sense of leadership.

All of these advances in seventy-five years have added up to one thing. Education is a necessity in life. To enjoy it, relish it, and to use it instead of discarding it, is the only way to success.

It is in this interest that we the Class of '48 wish new gains to Crestline High School, for only in our school life do we find the real experiences of life. We will always cherish them.

The Senior Class

In September of 1944 about seventy students started their journey through high school under the leadership of President Jeanne Rhodus; Vice-President Bill Bletz; Secretary Harry Arter; and Treasurer Shirley Horton.

We were no masterminds, but we did manage to get along at about average speed.

In the starting of our Sophomore year, which incidently was 1945, we trudged along under the guidance of our President Bette Kraner; our Vice-President John Garverick; our Secretary Robert Sand; and our Treasurer Donna Hart. Under their leadership we surmounted many obstacles.

Our Junior year started out with a big bang with Paul Winemiller as our President; John Garverick as our Vice-President; Ruth Simmermacher as our Secretary; and Shirley Horton as our Treasurer. This was the great year of our Junior-Senior Reception which caused much grief planning for it, but enjoyment putting it on.

We finally got to the place where we were no longer "green" like the Froshies. We led the younger members of Crestline High. In our final year were occasions such as the class assemblies, Senior class play, the Junior-Senior Reception, Bacculaureate, and the unforgettable Commencement.

Under the guidance of our class advisors, Miss Cover and Mr. DeWalt, our class officers John Garverick, President; Donald Stover, Vice-President; Virginia Smith, Secretary; and Edward Garverick, Treasurer, led us over our last obstacle--The Senior Year.

Will of Class of 1948

I, Loran Alexander, will my well-worn map of Bucyrus to the next sucker.

I, Harry Arter, will my facial expressions to Jack Brown.

I, James Barlion, will my brilliance in the fundamentals of life to Leroy Knox.

I, Betty Bauer, will my widely advertised and attended slumber parties to Carol Niswander.

I, Lloyd Beach, will my stocking cap to Mr. Remy. May it keep his ears warm.

I, Virginia Beeman, will my bulldog spirit to the team. May their bark be heard.

I, Carl Biglin, will my model A Ford to Rosie Moyer. (If it's still intact by then.)

I, William Bletz, will my bowling scores and slender figure to Mr. DeWalt.

I, John Boals, will my drawing ability to Elaine Winemiller.

I, Charles Burkhardt, will my love of arguing to Dorothy Sherer. I hope her tongue will not get twisted.

I, Edward Garverick, will my adeptness in bookkeeping to James Klopfenstein.

I, John Garverick, will my long-anticipated triumph as President of the Senior Class to Pat Meyers.

I, Donald Gehrisch, will my All-Ohio title to anyone who can endure the repercussions of the honor.

I, Dorothy Gosser, will my osculatory (kissing) talents to Glenn Miller. (Also a tube of lip ointment.)

I, Bill Herr, will my nightly treks down Bauer Avenue to someone with good feet.

I, Shirley Horton, will my ever-changing passions for boys to any one who can stand this fast life.

I, Elizabeth Huber, will my bass horn to Johnny Jenkins. It surely will take a load off my shoulders.

I, Arvine Kindinger, Jr., will my knowledge of all things to George Sherbondy. Use with caution, George.

I, Dick Kline, will my naturally blond hair to Beverly Woods.

I, Bette Kraner, will my cheerleading ability to Bobby Lewis. I hope he has as much fun on the bus as I had.

I, Thomas Linn, will my ice skates and hockey stick to Ronald Fullenlove--if he can stand the wintry blasts.

I, Alice Page, will my job as waitress to anyone who can stand the drudgery.

I, Matthew Perito, will my wide-awake attitude in civics to Marian Harner.

I, Donald Post, will one dollar to Mr. Hackman. Try to get the Athletic Association out of the red, Doc.

I, June Puhr, will my magnetic personality to the girls of C.H.S. They can divide it.

I, Jeanne Rhodus, will my uncanny attraction to boys to Alma Lou.

Class Will Continued From Page 21

I, Robert Sand, will my golden tones in singing to Edward McCaffrey, and my football tactics to Nat Tridico.

I, Jack Sawyer, will my nickname of "Zombie" to Norma Cook. May it fit her better than it did me.

I, James Schieber, will my livestock to the highest bidder. Only one warning: I drive a hard bargain.

I, Mary Schill, will my right dimple to Coach Hutson, and my left dimple to Mr. Enoch. May it improve their looks as much as it did mine.

I, Ruth Simmermacher, will my basketball playing ability to Julia Auer. Just don't foul it up, Julia.

I, John Smarto, will my jealousy of Harold Blum to Chuck Blum.

I, Virginia Smith, will my tolerance of people and my understanding attitude to Vincent Christini.

I, Junior Spade, will my traffic violations to Norma Pinyerd.

I, Donald Stover, will my contempt of women to Mr. Cellini. It's not doing me any good.

I, James Stump, will my sedate speed when traveling to Miss Miller.

I, Anna Marie Tornichio, will my carnations to John Krichbaum. Maybe he can cultivate it into a cauliflower.

I, Stella Tuscan, will my plate of spaghetti to Mr. Crider. Bring Katie, too.

I, Helen Tyrell, will a free haircut and a shave to James Kelso. Anything to save a few pence, eh, Jim?

I, Dorothy Weaver, will my favorite ten cent economy size bottle of "Ah Stinko" perfume to Miss Griebeling.

I, Edna Werner, will my quiet ways to Rosemary Schill.

I, Paul Winemiller, Jr., will my miniature feet and pearly smile to John Johnson.

I, Robert Wise, will my wizard-like manipulation of the trumpet to Jim Ryan.

I, Lavonne Wood, will my jitterbugging ability to my brother.

I, Yotive Wood, will my Mansfield acquaintances to no one. I like them too well myself.

I, Shirley Zwahlen, will my brother's shirts to Nancy Trainor. May she get as many good results as I.

We, Jackie Miller, and Donna Hart, will the ridicule which we have acquired during the last few years to anyone who gets laughed at as much as we do.

SENIOR CLASS SONG FOR CLASS OF 1948
(To the tune of Serenade of the Bells)

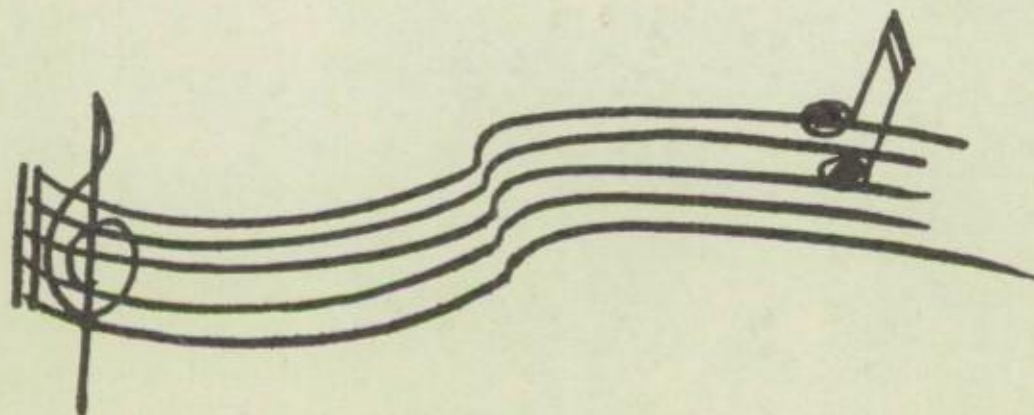

Freshman, sophomore, junior and then seniors,
We have come this far along our way
With the memory of Crestline High School
We'll proceed along life's way.

Scenes from our school life we'll always cherish
Of our teachers and our friends so true.
With the fun and joy we had at dances,
We'll proceed along life's way.

Junior rings and senior pictures
We have exchanged with all our friends.
And now that we are leaving
They'll remember us by them.

Still the bell will ring for all our school mates,
But for us they'll never ring again.
We'll remember all the scenes of school days,
As we sadly leave Crestline High.

By Ruth Simmermacher
and Arvine Kindinger, Jr.

Junior Class Officers and Advisors

This year the Junior class was led through another successful year with James Klopfenstein, president; Pat Meyers, vice-president; John Krichbaum, secretary; and Janet Plummer, treasurer. Mrs. Enoch, Mr. Hackman, and Mr. Walrath were the advisors who assisted them in their work.

It has been a busy year for all the Juniors with their many activities including managing the refreshment stand at football games, giving the play "Inner Willy", and an assembly program. Their biggest task this year was the annual Junior-Senior Reception for which every Junior worked hard to make it a success.

Those who were chosen to lead us in their Sophomore year were Jim Ryan, president; Almelio Salvati, vice-president; Ruth Poth, secretary; and Norma Pinyerd, treasurer.

The capable officers who led through the Freshman year were Nat Tridico, president; Marion Harner, vice-president; Evelyn Blaising, secretary; and Dorothy Ball, treasurer. The advisors were Mrs. Near and Mr. Hackman.

Freshmen

They may be just commencing their way to seniorhood, but this freshman class is ready to accomplish what they seek. The class is composed of sixty-seven students under the advisement of Miss Elizabeth O'Leary and Mr. Louis Cellini. This freshman year may be new to them, but they have planned some parties and an assembly in April for the student body.

To help make this a successful year, they have elected Emma Linn as President, Jane Obermiller, Vice-President; Janet Forman, Secretary; and Wayne Smith as Treasurer.

Annual Staff

Before the seniors depart, they endeavor to preserve in pictures and words a memorandum of their last year in high school. In future years, new concerns will crowd their days, but in their leisure moments, it will be with great pleasure that they turn to this, their year-book, to relive their happy high school days.

We wish to thank Mr. DeWalt, our advisor, and The Joe Wines Studios Detroit, Michigan for making this annual possible.

The shrill whistle of the Drum Major, a roll of the drums and the smart seventy piece Crestline High School Band, under the direction of Lucille Morrow Pennington, marches on to the football field to open the 1947 season. The CHS band was present at all of the Bulldogs' home games and traveled to all but one of the abroad games. The band put on many fine performances for the fans at pre-game and half times. The CHS band has also participated in several musical events in Crestline and neighboring towns.

The band gave a concert in Janurary and then another concert during National Music Week. The band also attended the annual band festival in Bucyrus and entered in state competition again this year. There are seven of the seventy members of the band that are seniors this year and will leave the band.

Orchestra

The Crestline High School Orchestra was founded in 1917 by Dr. R.B. Smith, who had a small but capable organization. After he left, the orchestra was taken over by Mr. Maurice Davis, who was with it until three years ago when our present director took over the Music Department of the school.

This organization participated in the Christmas assembly which was given by the seniors, the "Carol Sing", directed by Dr. Ernest Hesser, the Orchestra Festival at Galion, National Music Week, the Senior Class Play, and the Senior Recital.

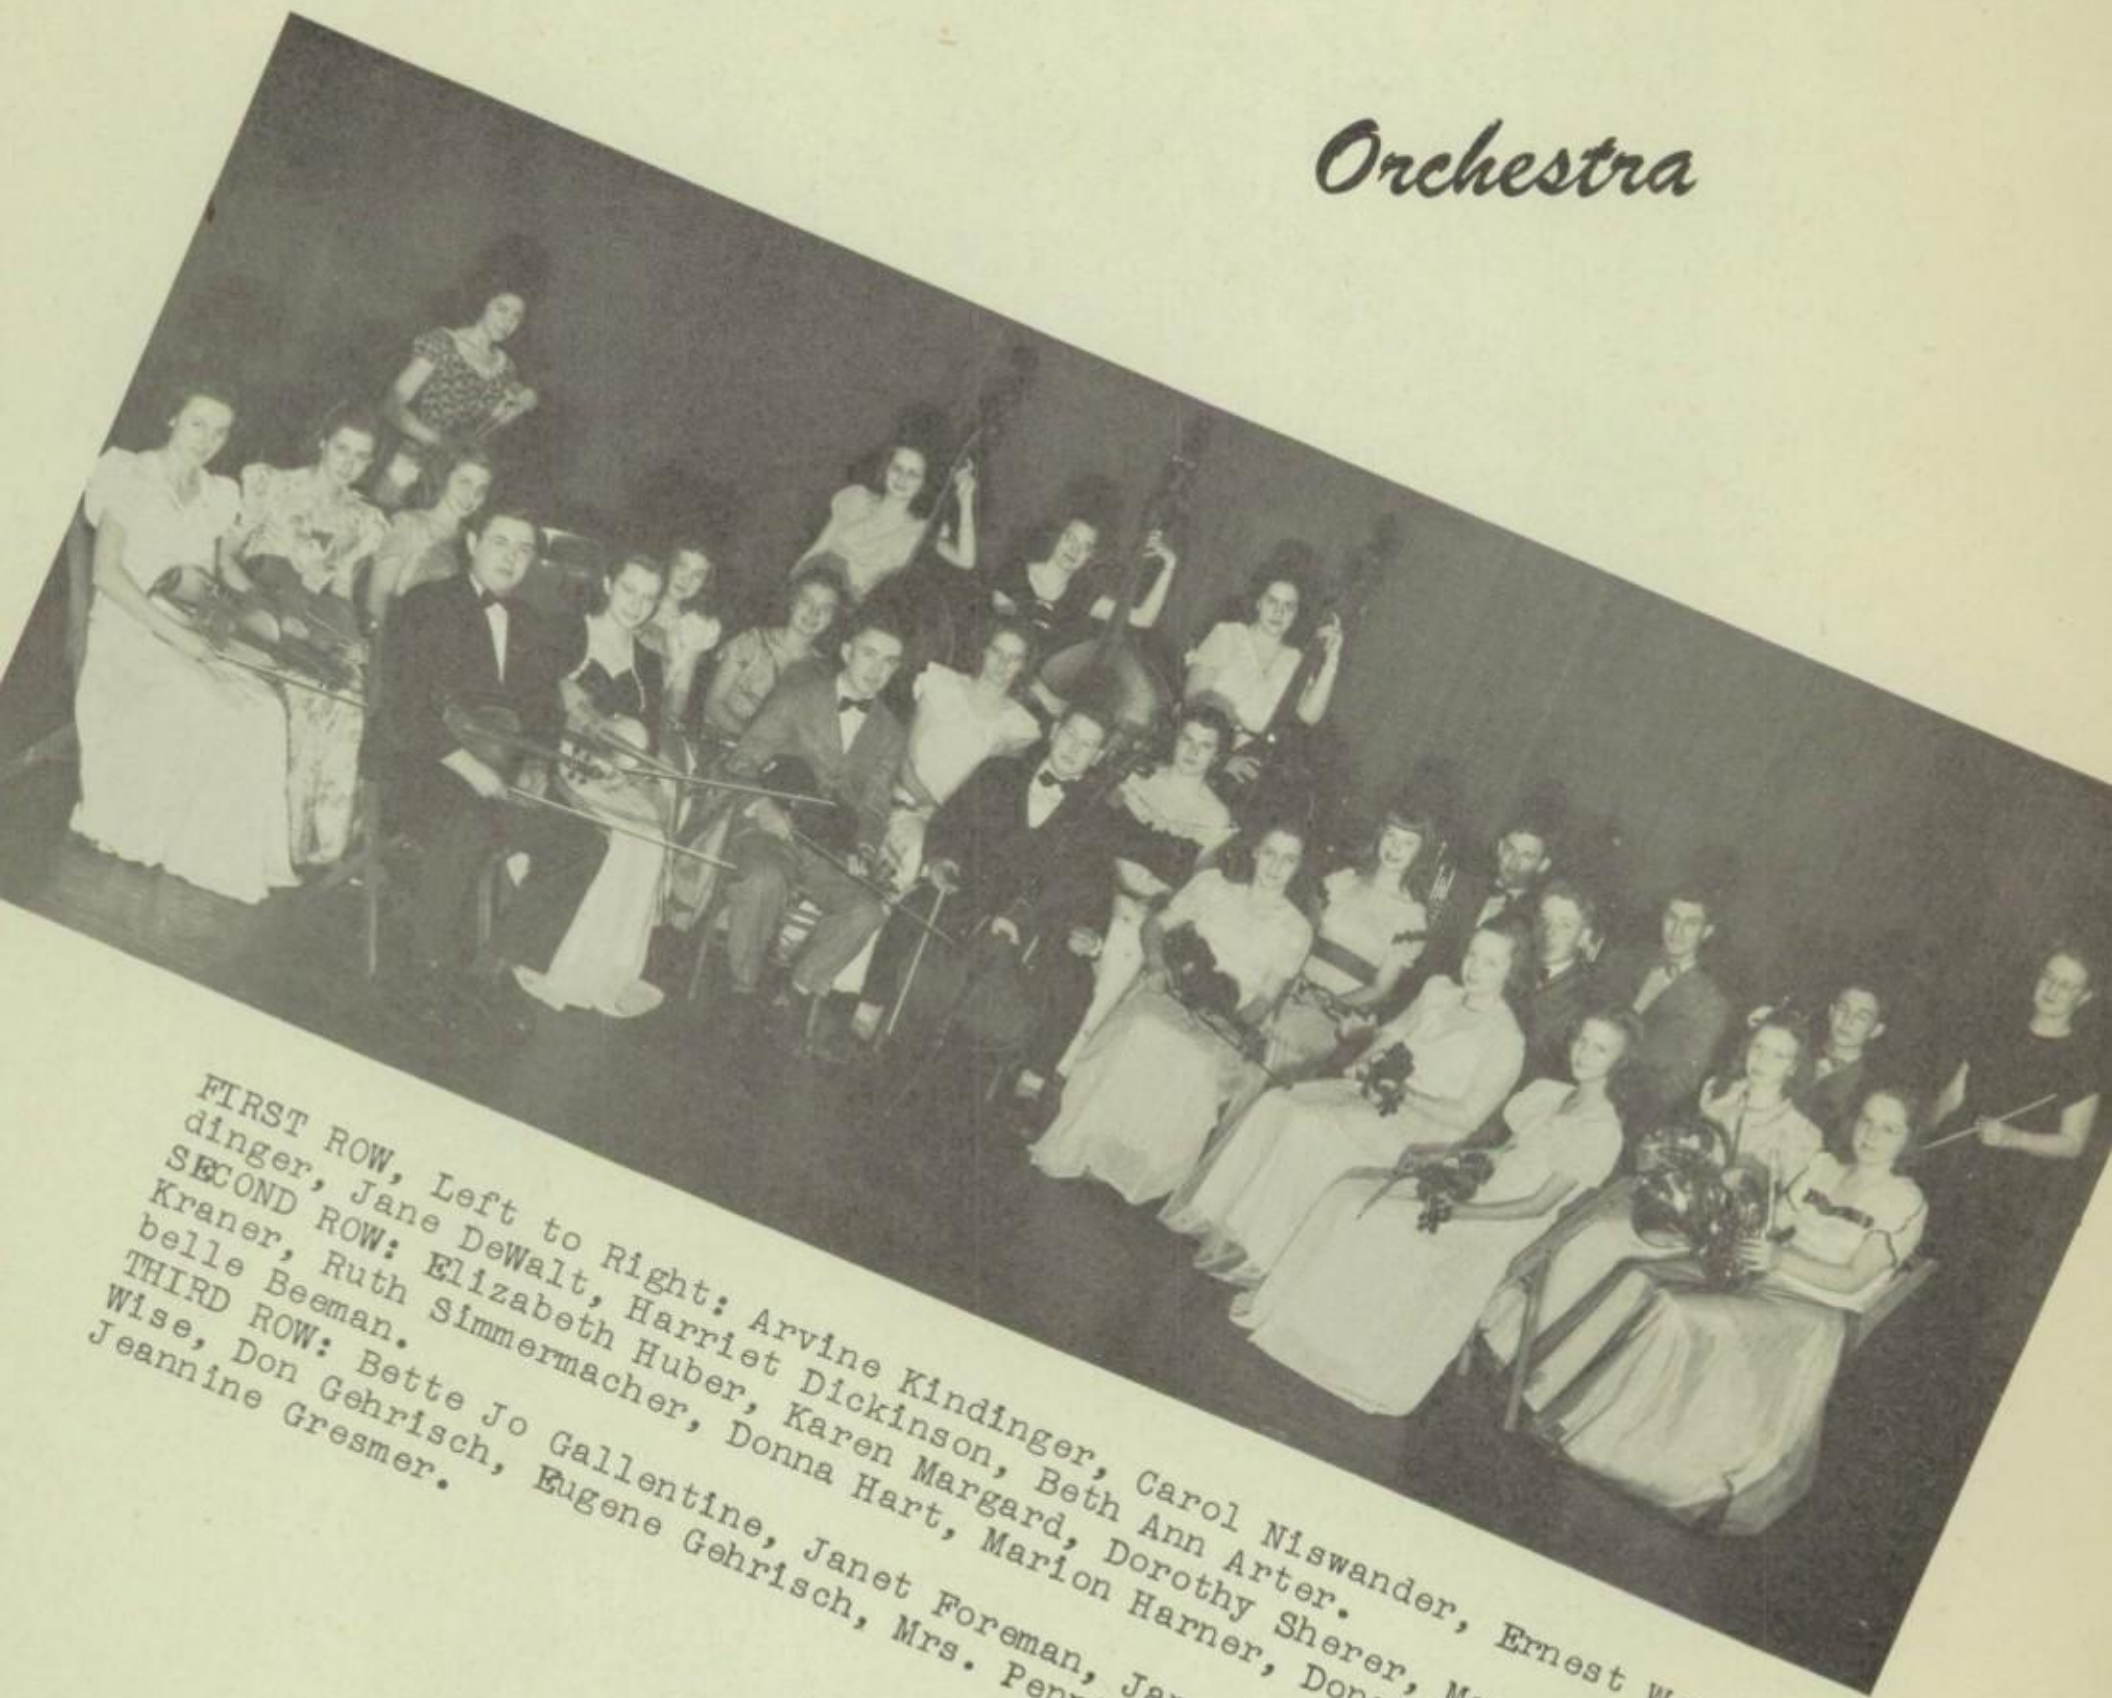

Their final appearance for the year was on Commencement Night when they played while the seniors marched down the aisle to receive their diplomas.

The orchestra is composed of thirty-one members. There are nine violins, two violas, two cellos, three bass viols, a piano, three clarinets, two flutes, two cornets, one trombone, two obes, two French horns, tympany, and bells.

Ruth Simmermacher serves as President, Donald Post as Vice-President, Gene Gehrisch as business manager, and Gertrude Long and Robert Wise as librarians of the orchestra.

A Capella Choir

An important activity enjoyed by many C.H.S. students is the A Cappella Choir, which is under the direction of Lucille Morrow Pennington.

The first outstanding event of the choir was the annual Christmas Concert on December 17th. "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" by Fred Waring was one of the well-liked numbers given on this program.

On April 8, the choir gave an operetta, "Lelawala," by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

Also, on April 16, the choir journeyed to Shelby to participate in the annual spring choir festival. Beside this, the choir has participated in many other musical activities and programs, especially during National Music Week.

This year the choir is under the leadership of the following officers: Don Gehrisch, President; Tom Linn, Vice-President; James Schieber and John Boals, Librarians; and June Puhr, Business Manager.

Y-Teen

Twenty-five years ago the Girl Reserve Club was organized in Crestline High School with Miss Freada Miller as advisor. Last year, however, the name Girl Reserves was changed to the Y-Teen Club by the National Y.W.C.A. Headquarters.

The Y-Teen Club this year consists of thirth-seven members, wich includes twelve seniors who will be leaving at the end of the school year.

The purpose of Y-Teen is "To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians."

The club's insignia, the blue triangle, represents knowledge, health, and spirit.

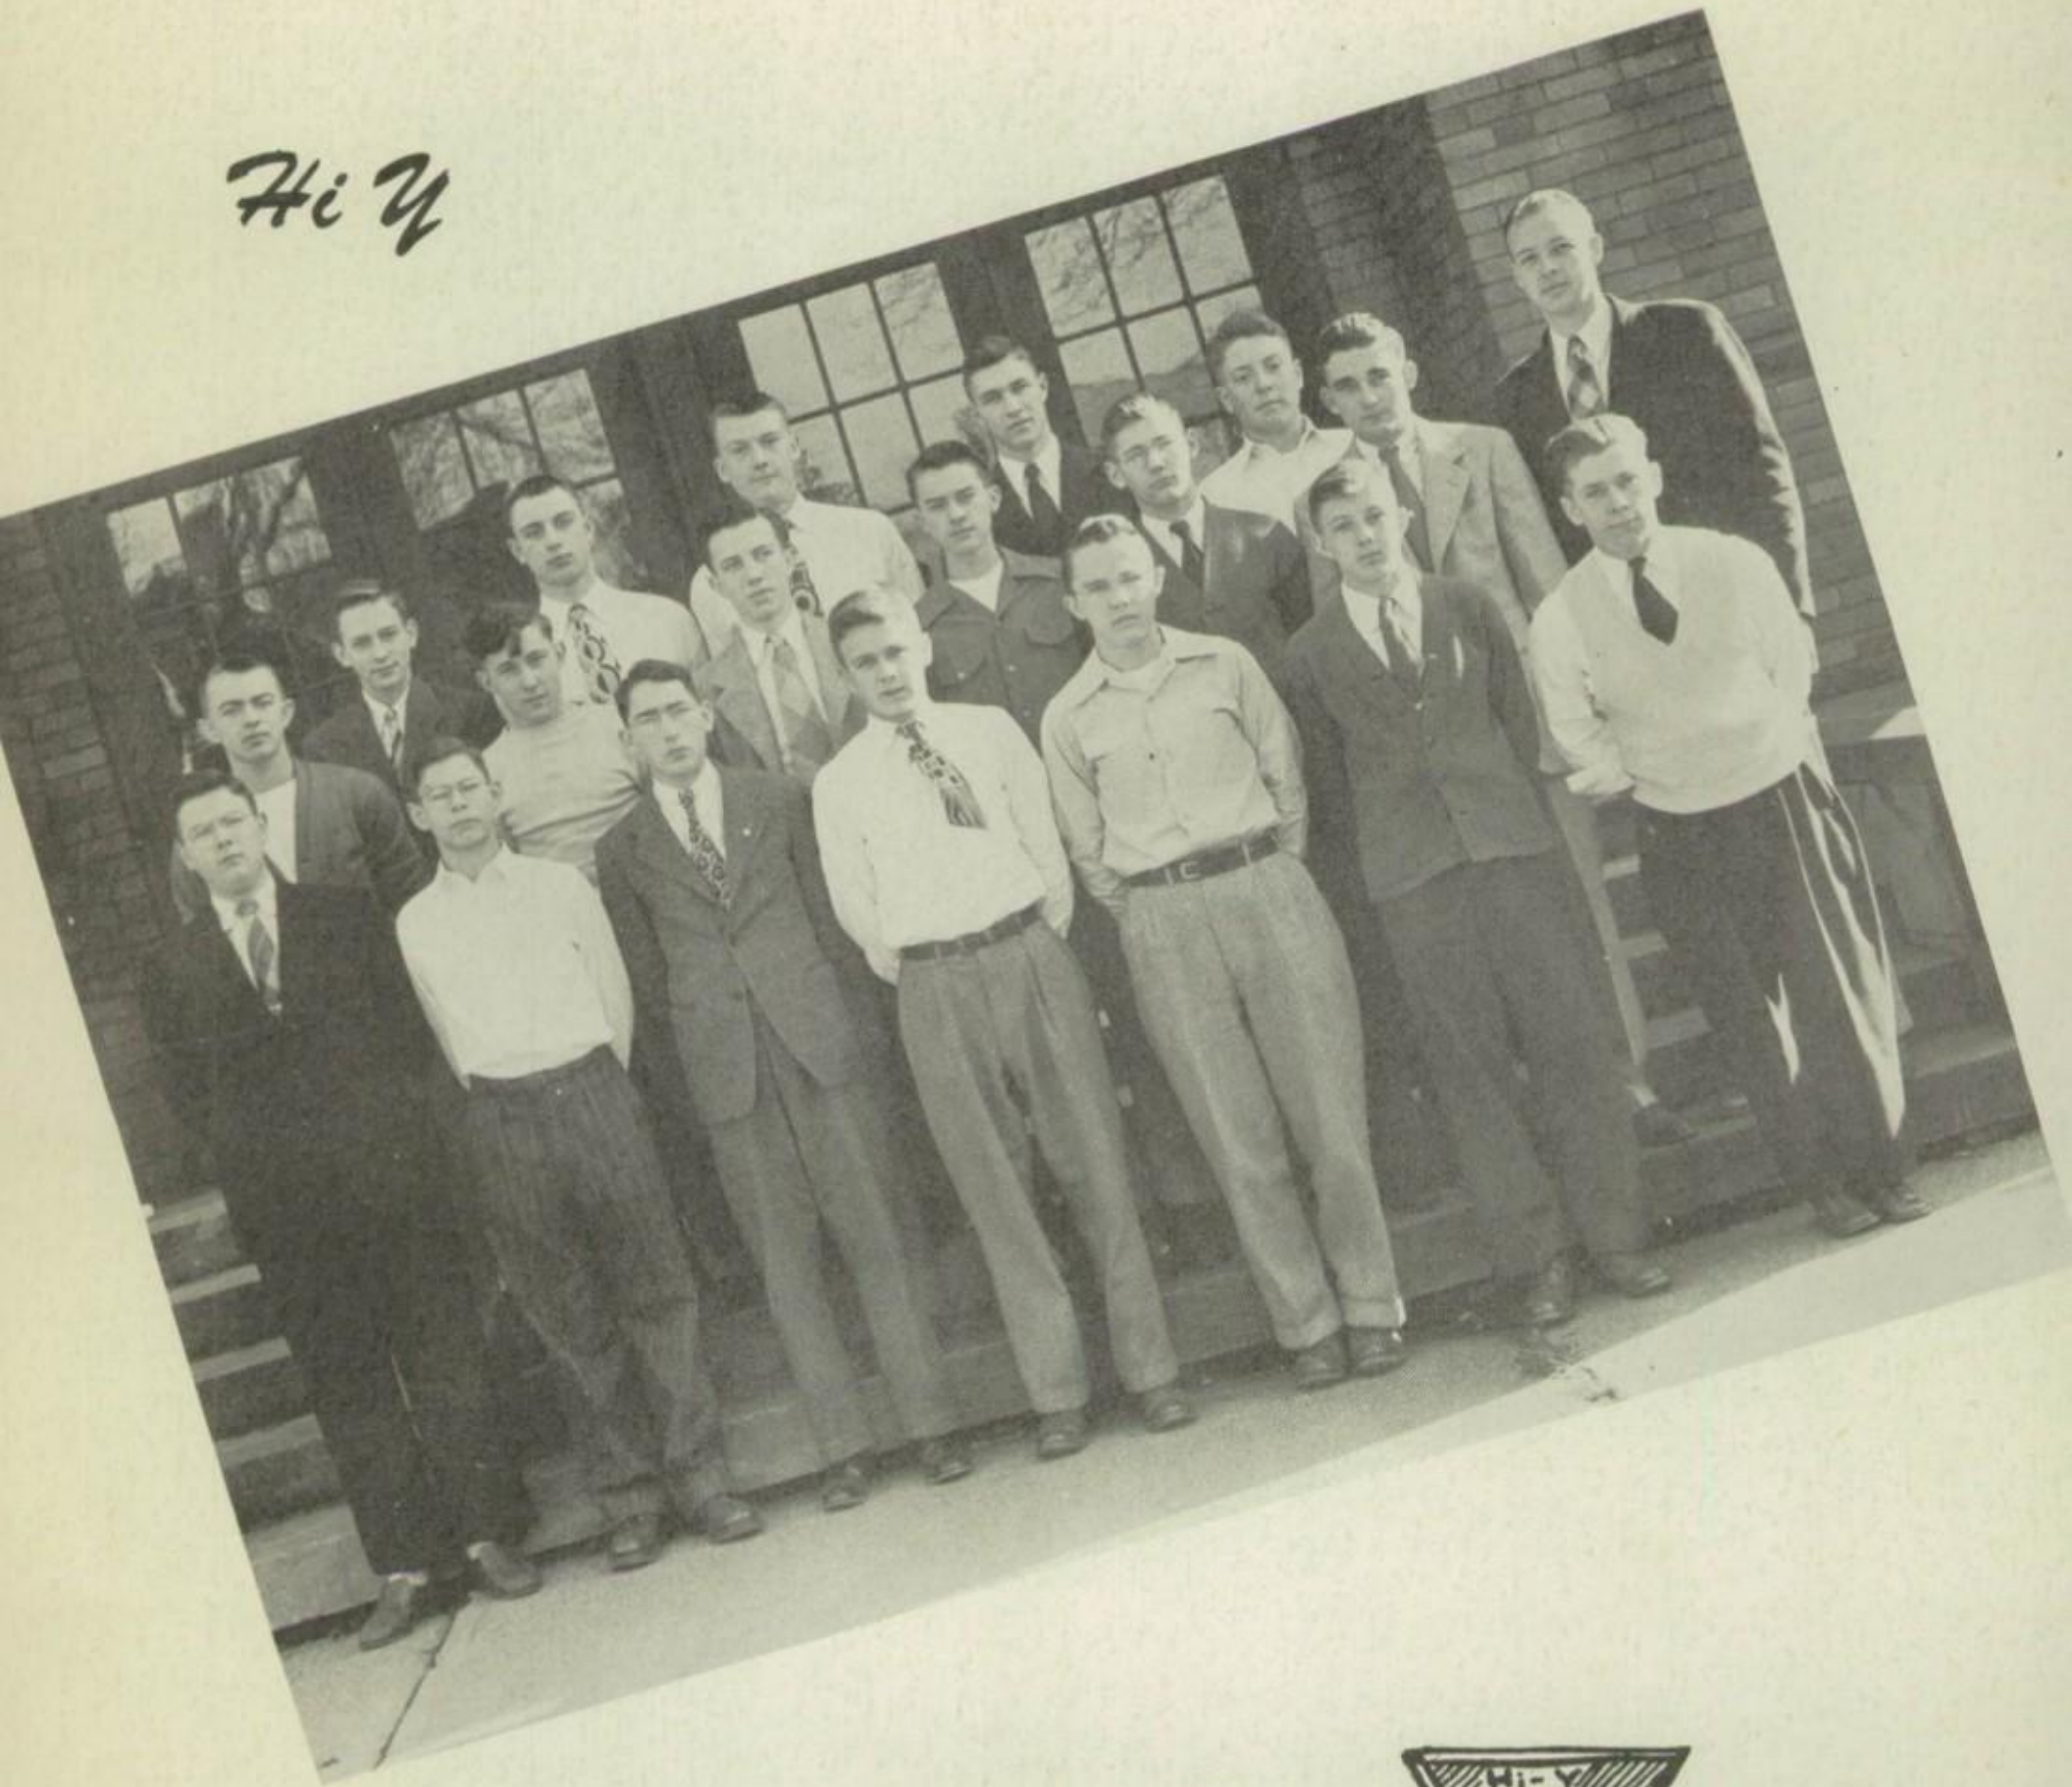

The influence exerted over the girls of this organization by its ideal and principles is equalled only by the diligence and aid of the present advisors Miss Cora B. Cover and Mrs. A.T. Enoch including others during past years.

This organization is now in its third year of existence since 1939, and is increasing in popularity, prestige, and prominence. Its activities are enlarging on such a scale that it has become one of the best managed organizations of this school. However, its Constitution limits the membership to twenty at present.

The officers this year are: Paul Winemiller, President; Don Gehrisch, Vice-President; Bill Bletz, Secretary; Donald Post, Treasurer; Bob Crider, Advisor. Among its activities are: Hayride, sweetheart party, check room at basketball games, Christmas activities, and many others.

Future Homemakers of America

The F.H.A., a newly formed girls' organization, is composed of sixty-one members. The club met socially once every two months and held class meetings once every two months.

The girls have actively participated in such social occasions as a Hallowe'en Party, a luncheon, and have planned on various other social functions.

Their aim is "Looking For New Horizons", and they also have the rose as their flower.

The F.H.A. has been efficiently guided by the advisor, Mrs. Enoch; the Club Mother, Mrs. Zwahlen; President, Jeanne Rhodus; Vice President, Marianne Yakubek; Secretary, Marilyn Lambert; Treasurer, June Puhr; Historian, Jane Obermiller; Parliamentarian, Shirley Zwahlen; News Reporter, Jane DeWalt; and song leader, Margaret Garverick.

Scores

The Bulldogs did fair this season, winning six and losing ten basketball games during the regular season. The Bulldogs, under Coach Merle Hutson, won one tournament game over Celina, but lost the second game to Fostoria. Four of the team this year are seniors but there are other prospective players coming up and should show their stuff the next few years. Scoop Winemiller and Dink Stover were elected Co-Captains for the year. Scoop was elected All League Forward and Bob Sand received Honorable Mention. The scores of the games are as follows:

G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association was founded in 1933 to promote an interest in athletic activities.

The Object of the G.A.A. is to develop good sportmanship, to promote good fellowship and sports, and beneficial exercise.

This Year the girls sold candy at the basketball games. Another event of the year was the organization of Girls' Bowling Teams.

A St. Valentine's Dance was held on February 6 and in the Spring a banquet at which time the officers were chosen for the following year.

The leaders of 1947-48 are:

President---Shirley Horton
Vice President---Jeanne Rhodus
Secretary---Yetive Wood
Treasurer---Lavonne Wood

The capable advisor of this year was Miss Marilyn Whitacre, Physical education teacher.

Cheerleaders

Homecoming Queen and Attendants

On November 7 we celebrated Homecoming with the three most beautiful girls of the school as Queen and Attendants. The Queen was June Puhr with her Attendants Jeanne Rhodus and Jackie Miller. The crowning of the Queen, due to bad weather, took place in the Youth Center.
